

These websites are not endorsed by the Azusa Unified School District and the school district is not responsible for their content. Please browse with care.
If your parents didn't go to college this site has many resources to provide you with the know-how for getting through the college application process.	http://www.imfirst.org/
This site lists 100 top SAT vocabulary words and definitions.	https://www.vocabulary.com/lists/23400
This site lists 100 different SAT vocabulary words.	http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-adv/eduadv/kaplan/kart_ug_sat100.html
This site has digital flash cards of the 100 words from the Washington Post vocab list.	http://quizlet.com/402/100-most-common-sat-words-flash-cards/
This is a part of the College Board's website that you can use for college planning.	https://bigfuture.collegeboard.org/
This is a list a books supposedly recommended by the College Board for college bound students. I could not find the list on Collegeboard.com, but several websites refer to this list.	http://wcpscollegeandcareer.weebly.com/uploads/7/7/1/1/7711918/college_board_recommended_books.pdf
This is another part of the College Board website devoted to preparing for the SAT. You can sign up for the SAT question of the day here.	http://sat.collegeboard.org/home?navid=bf-sat
Princeton Review is a test prep company. Their website has some helpful tools for college and career planning.	http://www.princetonreview.com/college-education.aspx
The Princeton Review Vocab Minute has clever songs that can expand your vocabulary.	http://www.princetonreview.com/vocab-minute.aspx
ACT is a college admissions test that most schools accept in place of the SAT. Their website has some helpful research and test prep tools.	http://www.actstudent.org/college/
If you have taken the PSAT, this website will provide you with your projected SAT score and give you a customized study plan.	https://quickstart.collegeboard.org/posweb/login.jsp
This is a link to the a cappella version of the Stevie Wonder song I played on the last day of summer school.	http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bo5XRpehldw
Use this website to discover where you can apply for scholarships.	http://www.fastweb.com/

Another website for research and college planning.	http://www.newfuturo.com/
This site encourages young people to prepare for college using four simple steps.	http://knowhow2go.acenet.edu/